Bulganin Cool Toward Ike's Arms Plan

Kremlin Boss Says Overall Pact Needed

Contents Proposals
Should Be Included
In General Program

DENVER, Sept. 23 (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin, in a message to President Eisenhower made public today, says the President's plan for swapping military blueprints "would become significant only if agreement is achieved on reduction of armaments and on taking measures for prohibition of atomic weapons."

Bulganin also wrote that Eisenhower's plan for mutual aerial inspections is a matter which would not "lead to effective progress towards insuring security of states and successful accomplishments of disarmament."

Despite the dim view which the Kremlin leader took of the proposals Eisenhower set forth at the Geneva Big Four conference, Bulganin told the President in his 2,000-word message:

"My remarks do not at all mean that we cannot achieve an agreement on important aspects of the disarmament problem. I would like to call your attention to the fact that on very substantial aspects of this problem our position has become so close to each other's that we would be able to reach a definite agreement."

No White House Comment
The Denver White House released the text of the Bulganin letter, which Eisenhower received Wednesday, without comment. However, administration reaction as indicated here was that the Bulganin note did not constitute an outright rejection of the Eisenhower plan.

The Premier's message, it was learned, was regarded—put it negatively—as having avoided acceptance of the President's proposals.

The administration's official position will be set forth, possibly early next week, when Eisenhower replies to Bulganin.

In his letter to the President, Bulganin placed great emphasis on Russia's position that the President's plan, if adopted, should be part of a general disarmament program.

French Railroad Walkout Fizzles

PARIS, Sept. 23 (AP)—French mainline rail traffic rolled at about 80 per cent of normal as the 24-hour strike called by locomotive engineers fizzled out well before its scheduled end tonight.

Train services were hit hardest in the earlier hours of the strike last night. Western and southwestern areas of the country were mainly affected, but hundreds of thousands of Paris workers had difficulties getting to and from the suburbs.

More on-and-off strikes are expected until the rail men get the 15 per cent raise they are seeking. The government, which controls the nationalized railroads, has offered 5 per cent.

Elsewhere the strike situation was spotty. Wage agreements were concluded in some industries, sending the men back to work, but a rash of new strikes broke out in others.

Prince Georges Co. Jail Break Foiled

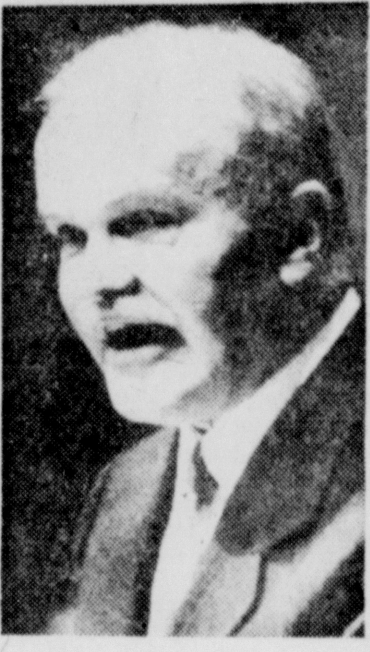

UPPER MARLBORO, Sept. 23 (AP)—An attempt by prisoners to saw their way out of the Prince Georges County jail was foiled today.

It was the third attempt in less than a week to escape from the building.

Sheriff J. Lee Ball said charges of attempted jailbreak and destruction of public property will be lodged against two prisoners who had occupied a cell for two weeks.

MOLOTOV SPEAKS—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today addressed the U. N. Assembly yesterday, asking the Western powers to reduce their armed forces and liquidate their foreign military bases without waiting for an international agreement on disarmament. (AP Wirephoto)

Lonardi Takes Oath Following Wild Welcome

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 23 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi was installed today as Argentina's new provisional president after one of the greatest welcomes in the country's history. He pledged a reign of democracy.

He promised freedom and justice for the followers as well as the opponents of the man he replaces, Juan D. Peron—toppled from office by a rebellion Lonardi led.

He singled out the labor unions—backbone of Peron's political machine—with assurances that they would have under his administration the same rights and liberties as the former President's opponents in the Roman Catholic Church and the universities.

Cheering singing crowds thronged the airport in suburban Palermo as Lonardi arrived from Cordoba headquarters of the victorious revolution. They lined his five-mile route to government headquarters in the heart of the city and jammed the Plaza de Mayo where he took the oath of office. Oldtimers called it much bigger than anything ever staged by labor backers of Peron in the decade of his power.

Then, on the balcony where Peron formerly stood to speak to the people in his strident voice, Lonardi put on his horn-rimmed spectacles and read his inaugural speech. His voice was calm and husky.

Each time he referred to Peron without speaking the former President's name—or to "the legacy left us by a tyrant," a storm of whistles and hisses rose from the plaza.

Peron remained on the closely guarded Paraguayan gunboat Paraguay in Buenos Aires harbor, on which he took refuge Tuesday.

Russia Favors U. N. Seats For 16 Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told reporters today the Soviet Union favors U. N. membership for all 21 current applicants except Japan, and divided Korea and Viet Nam.

He said so in reply to a question as to which countries he had in mind when he told the General Assembly earlier the Soviet delegation "is willing to support the simultaneous admission to the U. N. of . . . 16 states which have applied for membership."

Barney Ross Says Dope Smugglers Should Hang

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.) today urged much stiffer penalties—up to and including the death sentence—for convicted narcotics smugglers.

Daniel spoke out after former boxing champion Barney Ross, himself an ex-addict, told the Senate subcommittee on narcotics he strongly believed every smuggler of drugs should be "hung immediately."

"I certainly agree with you as far as these smugglers are concerned," Chairman Daniel told Ross. "They have committed murder on the installment plan."

Daniel added he wasn't proposing an automatic death sentence but that he did believe there should be "stiff mandatory sentences" starting at 5 to 10 years and extending to the supreme penalty.

Molotov Asks End To Weapon Race

Soviet Minister Exudes Geneva Spirit In Speech

West Challenged To Give Up Bases

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today demanded an end to the world armaments race and a ban on nuclear weapons. He challenged the West to match Soviet deeds by reducing their armed camps and giving up foreign military bases.

These were major points in an unusually-mild address by Molotov to the U. N. General Assembly. He spoke 1½ hours. He exuded the Geneva spirit, but he failed to give Moscow's answer to President Eisenhower's "open sky" inspection plan and he failed to budge from basic Russian policy of recent years.

Molotov promised to continue studying President Eisenhower's plan to ascertain to what extent it would contribute to a reduction of armaments and settlement of the problem of outlawing weapons. He did not mention Premier Bulganin's letter to the President, reported to have dealt with the Eisenhower plan.

Dulles Doesn't Applaud

Secretary of State Dulles, who took a moderate but firm line for the United States yesterday, listened closely to Molotov. Molotov applauded Dulles yesterday but Dulles did not return the favor today. He did not join the diplomatic handclapping which greeted Molotov when he finished.

After the Assembly adjourned, Molotov and Dulles met privately in U. N. headquarters, reportedly at Molotov's request. There was no comment from either, however, as to the subject under discussion. Molotov introduced in the Assembly one of the most temperate resolutions the Russians ever have put up here. Instead of the old practice of blasting the West, he proposed that the Assembly consider all plans for disarmament and all other proposals intended to relax tension and prevent a third world war.

Primary Objective

The Russians have been talking disarmament since the days of the League of Nations. Molotov said the termination of the armaments race must be the primary objective here.

He reminded the Assembly that the Soviet Union has decided to reduce its armed forces by 640,000 men as of Dec. 15, 1955. He expressed hope other powers possessing substantial armed forces would take steps as a good will gesture without waiting for an international convention.

He recalled the Russians are turning back to Finland the military base in the Porkkala area. He said that at the end of the year there will be no Soviet military bases on the territories of other states and the Soviet Union has proceeded from "words to deeds." He added this gives the Russians reason to call on other powers to give up their bases on foreign territories.

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Sept. 23 (AP)—Sixteen men suspected of connections with nationalist underground terrorists escaped tonight from medieval Kyrenia Castle.

Oil Of Good Quality Discovered In Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 23 (AP)—Oil has been discovered in Israel, Development Minister Dov Joseph announced today. Quality of the oil is good, he said, but it is too early to estimate the quantities of oil and gas in the test well.

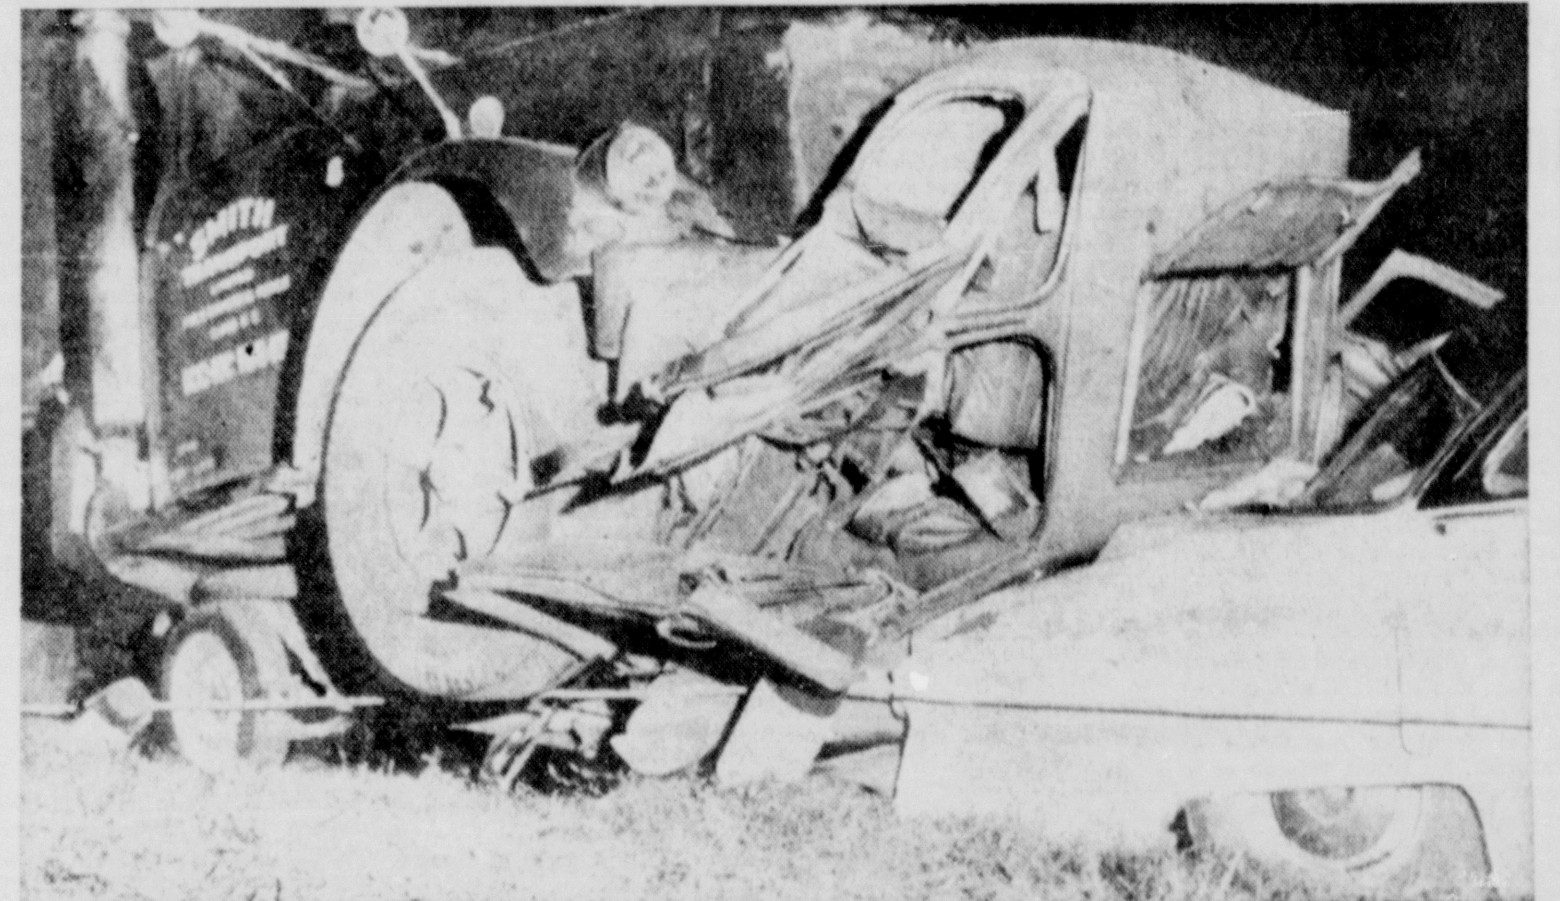

Joseph told a news conference the strike was made at Heletz, 30 miles south of Tel Aviv and 6 miles from the Egyptian-held Gaza strip, scene of violence between Israel and Egypt.

The well is producing from a depth of 4,906 feet, Joseph said, adding that the well pressure sent the first gush 12 feet in the air.

Priests Quit Argentina

BOGOTA, Colombia, Sept. 23 (AP)—Two Argentine Roman Catholic priests expelled by the Peron regime in Argentina left today by plane for New York. Their expulsion June 15 was followed by excommunication of Peron.

They are Msgr. Manuel Tato, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and Msgr. Ramon Pablo Novoa, provicar of the Buenos Aires archdiocese.

Diaper Thefts Spur Hunt For Kidnaped Baby

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (AP)—A new clothesline theft of diapers today focused the massive hunt for the kidnaped Marcus baby upon a two-mile-square area of San Jose, Calif., where a furtive woman repeatedly has been seen carrying a baby in a blanket.

Ray Blackmore, police chief in the city at the foot of San Francisco Bay, announced his positive conviction that 6-day-old Robert Marcus and the woman who is believed to have kidnaped him from his hospital crib in San Francisco last Monday, are in San Jose.

"We will find the child," he declared.

Hundreds of searchers are combing the area, while in San Francisco the hollow-eyed parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, continue a suffering vigil. The mother, Hanna Marcus, 29, one-time German Jewish refugee with a tragic background, is still at Mt. Zion Hospital in "poor" condition, refusing food and under sedatives.

In San Jose several diapers and two baby gowns disappeared at dawn today from a backyard behind a flat at 98 N. 11th St., in San Jose. Mrs. Lois Freeman reported to police she saw a woman in a dark coat, with a baby-sized bundle in her arms, "shuffling away from the back of the house."

By the time she had aroused her husband and he could get to the street, the woman had disappeared. Mrs. Freeman said.

A jumble of conflicting leads has virtually inundated San Francisco police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which entered the case officially yesterday after an abortive $5,000 ransom demand. This ransom demand, however, is not believed to have any connection with the real kidnaper.

100 Dead On Barbados Dutch-Owned Isles Menaced By Janet

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP)—Hurricane Janet, leaving an estimated 100 dead and thousands homeless on Barbados in the Windward Islands, caused northwest storm warnings on islands off the South American coast as she prowled westward on a serpentine course today.

Storm warnings went up over the Dutch-owned islands of Bonaire, Curacao and Aruba, and over the Paraguan Peninsula on the east side of the Gulf of Venezuela.

A hurricane hunter plane penetrated the eye of Janet and at 5 p.m. EST its center was near latitude 13.1 north, longitude 65.5 west, or about 300 miles south-southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico. This was some 1,350 miles southeast of Miami.

The storm's serpentine path carried it westward or west-northwest at about 13 miles an hour, miles an hour over a small area.

U. N. Assembly Rejects Cyprus Debate Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly today rejected a Greek demand for a debate on the explosive Cyprus problem.

Greek Foreign Minister Stephanos Stephanopoulos had sought to have the Assembly reverse a decision by the 15-nation Steering Committee refusing to inscribe the question of the British Mediterranean colony on the agenda.

The Assembly voted 28-22 to uphold the Steering Committee recommendation. Ten countries abstained.

This meant that the problem will not be taken up at the current session. Britain and the United States led the fight against U. N. action on Cyprus, where nationalists of Greek blood seek union with Greece.

Probe Of Ladejinsky Case Begins Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Sen. Johnston (D-SC) announced today that a full-dress Senate probe of the controversial Wolf Ladejinsky security case will get under way Monday with all witnesses under subpoena.

Johnston is chairman of a Senate Civil Service subcommittee conducting an over-all investigation of the government employee security program.

Ladejinsky, Russian-born American land reform expert, was removed from his Agriculture Department post in Tokyo several months ago by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, as a security risk. He was later employed by Director Harold Stassen of the Foreign Operations Administration for a land reform job in Indochina, with complete State Department clearance.

Adenauer Wins Approval Of His Pact With Soviet

BONN, Germany Sept. 23 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today won unanimous parliamentary approval of his agreement to establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

This cleared the way for Bonn and Moscow to exchange ambassadors before the conference of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva next month.

Both governments are anxious to set up the new embassies before this crucial meeting that could decide the fate of Germany for years to come.

The Foreign Office said discussions between the West German and Soviet Embassies in Paris will start within 48 hours.

Bonn's Ambassador Voltrath von Maltzan will inform Russian Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov formally of the decision by the Bundestag (lower house). Then the two envoys will discuss such questions as the availability of housing for the new embassies and an appropriate date to begin relations.

With the opposition Socialists voting with Adenauer's government coalition parties, the Bundestag supported the reservations that he outlined to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin in agreeing to set up formal relations.

These declare that Germany's final frontiers can be settled only in a peace treaty, that Adenauer's government speaks for all Germany, and that the Communist East German regime "with no freely elected representatives" does not represent the 18 million East Germans.

Russia Releases 31

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP)—Thirty-one prisoners, including two women, were released today after being imprisoned in Russia since World War II.

The group included 14 Germans, 12 French citizens, 2 Belgians, 2 Dutch citizens and 1 person described as stateless.

Workers Told They Must Ignore Family Picket Line

BESSEMER, Ala., Sept. 23 (AP)—had idled more than 900 workers with the first picketing beginning three days ago.

McClain was fired about two weeks ago after a fight with another employee. He claimed he was framed, and blamed his troubles on a dispute with the personnel manager, Herman Thompson, who also is Bessemer police commissioner.

McClain's Union Local 1466, to which he and other Pullman-Standard workers belong, decided by a split vote to respect his picket line. Since then hundreds of workers have refused to pass the husky 31-year-old Navy veteran and his pretty 25-year-old wife while they patrolled in front of the plant gates.

The Bessemer plant has a multi-million dollar backlog of orders on which the dispute has stopped work.

Half-Brothers Are Acquitted On 3rd Ballot

"Reasonable Doubt" As To Identification Of Body, Jurors Say

SUMNER, Miss., Sept. 23 (AP)—A Mississippi Delta jury today acquitted two white half-brothers in the slaying of a vacationing Chicago Negro boy in one hour seven minutes.

The verdict came after three jury ballots.

A courtroom packed with Mississippi Delta residents took the verdict in orderly fashion, but with a loud exclamation.

The defendants, Roy Bryant, 24-year-old Money, Miss., general store keeper, and his half-brother John W. Milam, 36, were accused of the Aug. 28 kidnap-slaying of 14-year-old Emmett (Bobo) Till, a South Side Chicago boy.

A kidnap charge in an adjoining county still hangs over them. The state called the murder a "cowardly act."

However, the defense cast doubt a body taken from the Tallahatchie

NAACP Declares Verdict 'Shameful'

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People tonight declared the acquittal verdict in the Emmett Till case at Sumner, Miss., as "shameful" and "shocking."

The all-white jury acquitted Roy Bryant and his half-brother, John W. Milam, in the "wolf-whistle" slaying of Till, a South Side Chicago Negro boy.

River three days after the abduction really was Till's.

It could have been a racial "rabble-rouser's plant," the defense argued. The foreman of the jury said the issue of the body's identification was the chief motive behind the verdict.

Boy Kidnaped Aug. 28
Young Till was kidnaped from his uncle's cottonfield shack Aug. 28. Bryant's 21-year-old wife, Carolyn, testified that on the night of Aug. 24, a Negro had indecently tried to date her and had whistled at her.

Authorities in pretrial statements offered the wolf-whistle incident at the Bryant store in the tiny hamlet in No. 4, A. Shaw, signalled the climax of the celebrated Mississippi Delta trial at 3:43 p.m. CST from inside the tiny jury room with its peeling paint.

After the jury came in, Shaw offered a simple, "Not guilty."

Circuit Judge Curtis Swango refused to accept this wording. He sent the jury back. A few minutes later, they returned with a verdict written down in properly legal fashion. It ran:

"We the jury, find the defendants not guilty."

Milam and Bryant seemed impassive. Mrs. Bryant broke into a subdued smile and she and her husband clasped hands. Later, both couples embraced.

Defense Lawyer's Theory

Shaw said the jury's decision was based on the state's failure to prove beyond reasonable doubt that it was young Till's body that was

Cost Of Living Shows Decline

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Living costs declined in August to turn back much of the increase recorded in June and July.

The government reported that seasonally lower food prices caused the official index to drop two-tenths of 1 per cent to a level of 114.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This compares with 114.7 in July, 114.4 in June and 114.2 in May. August living costs were four-tenths of 1 per cent below August last year.

Mrs. Arnyess Joy Wickens, deputy labor statistics commissioner, said in announcing the new figures there was no evidence up to mid-August of price increases in steel and other commodities this summer working into the consumer price level. She predicted retail prices will continue "in a fairly narrow range" during the fall months.

Fresh fruits and vegetables led the food price decline as more plentiful supplies reached markets in August.

Soviet Air Progress May Force Revision Of American Plans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Continued Russian progress in the air may force the United States to consider expanding its Air Force beyond the 137-wing strength it will reach by mid-1957.

The situation was discussed today by Gen. Thomas White, vice chief of the Air Force, who said, "The Joint Chiefs of Staff have concluded that for the time being it (the goal of 137 wings) will meet the need, but if the Soviets make gains in quality we may have to consider more nearly matching their quantity."

Up to now the American policy has been to rely on what it considers a qualitative lead to overcome Russia's numerical advantage in aircraft.

Present U. S. Air Force strength is about 124 wings. The size of a wing varies from 75 fighters to 30 heavy bombers.

The U. S. Air Force, said White, has "thousands less" combat planes than the Red air force. White expressed his views to a session of the "Defense Orientation Conference Assn.," an organization of industrial, business and professional leaders who came to the Pentagon to hear defense officials outline the military situation.

Some of what they heard was gloomy.

White said the Russians are perfecting new atomic weapons and guided missiles, and are carrying

British Spy Fled As Security Net Began To Close

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The British government announced today that master spy Donald Maclean fled with fellow diplomat Guy Burgess just as a carefully woven security net began closing around him.

An official statement suggested that a shadowy "third man" possibly tipped off Maclean and Burgess at the eleventh hour.

But if such a man exists, he walks about as freely at this moment as he did on the night of May 25, 1951, when Maclean and Burgess slipped out of England to seek sanctuary behind the Iron Curtain.

The statement said searching interrogations were made to find out if they were tipped off but "insufficient evidence was obtained to form a definite conclusion or to warrant prosecution."

Britain now presumes Maclean and Burgess are serving as advisers to the Soviet Foreign Office. It has been noted here that their arrival in the Communist world coincided with introduction of a more subtle form of Soviet propaganda against the West.

The government statement was published as a White Paper. This little eight-page pamphlet told in restrained words the amazing account of a Soviet spy network stretching from the Kremlin to the upper echelons of the British Foreign Office, with Red agents operating in quiet English villages and amid the smoke and bustle of London's docks.

The White Paper devoted most of its space to the 42-year-old Maclean. He is pictured as the dominant one of the two. And it was to him that suspicion pointed when Britain discovered as far back as January 1949 that diplomatic secrets were leaking to Soviet authorities.

Along with the publication of the White Paper, Prime Minister Eden's government decided to arrange a full-scale debate on the case soon after the House of Commons reassembles Oct. 25 from its summer recess.

Mary, Queen of Scots, had so many wigs she had a special coach to carry them when she traveled.

Man Started Five Fires To 'Relieve Nervous Tension'

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—A man pleaded guilty today to setting five fires, saying he did it to "relieve nervous tension."

No one was hurt and damage was minor in the blazes that kept firemen busy three hours the night of Sept. 7.

Committed to jail pending an investigation by the Board of Parole and Probation was Charles M. Watson, 30, of Charles Town, W. Va.

Eight Dual Lane Roads Planned

ROCKVILLE, Sept. 23 (AP)—A preliminary plan for highway improvements in upper Montgomery County calls for eight new dual lane arterial highways.

The plan, now being studied by the Upper Montgomery Planning Commission, also would provide for roads bypassing Gaithersburg, Rockville and the business area of Damascus, the Washington Evening Star said today.

The eight dual-lane highways in the tentative master plan, are:

A cross-county arterial road from River road via Piney Meeting House road, Shady Grove road, Muncaster road and Brookville road to Route 97, Georgia Ave. Extended, at Norbeck.

From the District line along River road to White's Ferry on the Potomac River.

Route 28 from the Frederick County line to Rockville and from Rockville eastward to Route 97 at Norbeck.

Maryland Route 115 from Norbeck to Brink road north of Gaithersburg.

Route 240 from Gaithersburg to Rockville.

Maryland 108 from just south of Laytonsville to Olney.

Route 27 from north of Damascus to U. S. 240.

Routes 118 and 112 from U. S. 240 to River road at Seneca.

Wable Appeal To Pa. Supreme Court Planned

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 23 (AP)—Defense Atty. A. C. Scales said tonight he will file an appeal with the State Supreme Court tomorrow to try to save convicted killer John Wesley Wable from the electric chair next Monday.

Scales said the appeal will be from the Westmoreland County Court's action last week in denying a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Scales had asked for the writ on grounds that some witnesses did not tell the "full truth" at the trial.

Scales said he also will ask the Supreme Court to grant a stay of execution. He already has asked Gov. George M. Leader to grant such a stay.

Earlier today, Wable made a personal effort to escape the chair but lost.

Wable, facing death for a truck driver slaying, asked the Westmoreland County Court to appoint a new attorney for him so he can appeal "to a higher court of Pennsylvania." The court refused. Just yesterday, Scales went before the State Pardons Board to ask for commutation of Wable's sentence to life imprisonment. The board turned down the plea three hours later.

Wable, 25, of Ohiopyle, Pa., was convicted of the pistol slaying of Harry F. Pitts, 39, of Bowling Green, Va., as he slept in the cab of his trailer truck along the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Wable also was charged with the slaying of another truck driver and the wounding of a third similar circumstances.

Former Salisbury Car Dealer Convicted

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—Clarence Melvin Disharoon, who suddenly disappeared from Salisbury almost five years ago, today was convicted of embezzling $4,400 from the automobile agency he once managed here.

His attractive wife, 27-year-old Norma Rosetta Disharoon, who faces charges of being an accessory, collapsed on the courtroom floor when the jury announced its verdict. She was revived in a few moments.

Sentence was withheld, pending the filing of a motion for a new trial. Disharoon, who is 31, faces up to 18 years in prison. State's Attorney Hamilton P. Fox Jr. recommended a 12-year sentence.

$2,600,000 Detrick Project Approved

FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—Camp Detrick officials announce today Congress has approved construction of a $2,600,000 communications center for the Frederick County Army base.

It is expected 300 additional persons will be required to man the center. Detrick officers said about half of them would be civilians.

Most of the civilian help will be composed of highly trained technicians now employed in other areas by the Signal Corps, it was announced.

The new center will be equipped with fully automatic teletype writers, switching equipment and interconnections for continental and overseas stations.

U. Of Md. Enrollment Up

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—The University of Maryland said today it had a total registration of 9,864 students at College Park for this term, an increase of 12.8 per cent over the number listed on the books at this time last year.

It has been estimated that 10 tons of blood must flow through a cow's udder in the production of 50 pounds of milk.

Girl Who Killed Brother Faces Murder Charge

PHILIPPI, W. Va., Sept. 23 (AP)—A first degree murder charge was filed today against 19-year-old Della Mae Beavers, who told two different stories about the slaying of her 23-year-old brother.

Prosecutor Edward Luff said officers who questioned her last night and today "were without any theory as to why she shot him." Della Mae first told her story to a policeman at Clarksburg, W. Va., Wednesday noon after a 60-mile taxi and hitch-hiking trip from the Beavers home at Kasson, 14 miles northeast of Philippi.

Patrolman Tom Lopez said she told him she shot her brother because he had cancer and had often begged to her to kill him.

Sheriff Clifford Dyer said she later told questioners she shot Louis Beavers after he tried to attack her.

Later Luff said, Ella Mae didn't mention anything about her brother having an incurable disease.

Dr. M. M. Stump, county coroner, said the autopsy showed no "cancer or a tumor or any brain injury."

U. Of Md. Budget Request Of 28 Million Authorized

Board of Regents today authorized a budget request of $28,474,159 for the University of Maryland, nearly 2½ million dollars more than the current budget.

It will be submitted to the next session of the General Assembly as the amount needed for operations of the university on the College Park campus, at the professional schools in Baltimore and in other sections of the state.

The biggest item was $5,254,695 for University Hospital here, where the regents met and approved the budget.

Second largest item was $3,535,666 for the university's educational departments at College Park.

The original report of the budget committee was increased by $70,499—$40,000 for the development of a new endowment program, $25,000 for pay increases for interns and residents at the hospital in addition to raises included in the original report, and $5,400 to raise the pay of university police officers.

The report was presented by Dr. Albin Kuhn, assistant to President Wilson H. Elkins. Dr. Kuhn said the original requests of the deans were pared by almost one million dollars before the final budget was prepared.

Half-Brothers

(Continued from Page 1) taken nude and mutilated from the Tallahatchie River last Aug. 31. The defense heavily stressed the issue of identification. In summing up today, defense lawyer John Whitten offered a theory that rabble-rousers put a Negro body—dead some days—in the river, and falsely balleghooded it as Till's. The defense said the body's condition indicated it had been dead some time beyond the three days Till had been missing.

Special prosecutor Robert Smith III said the crime, if unpunished, would endanger the South's "way of life."

He conceded "we have outsiders coming in and disrupting our way of life" but Smith insisted the body had been identified by the boy's mother and further identified by the ring it bore—a ring young Till inherited from his dead father.

Lad's Mother Not In Court

The boy's mother Mrs. Mamie Bradley was not in court for the verdict. The young sons of Bryant and Milam also were absent for the climax. The Bryant boys, 2 and 3, and the Milam boys, 2 and 4, perched on their father's knees and frolicked in the courtroom the first two days of the trial.

Judge Swango, at the request of the state, dismissed Tallahatchie County kidnaping indictments against Bryant and Milam. He said Tallahatchie County had jurisdiction in Till's murder but not in his abduction. The body was found in Tallahatchie County. Money, scene of the kidnaping, is in adjoining Leflore County.

The pair were turned over to Leflore County Sheriff George Smith. They have been formally charged there with kidnaping but the case has not gone to the grand jury. Bryant and Milam are expected to gain freedom on bond while Leflore County decides whether to try them on kidnaping, a less serious charge here than murder.

Shortly after Till's abduction, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, called the slaying a "new style of lynching."

Gov. Hugh White replied it was murder, not lynching.

From there the argument snowballed into an avalanche of letters to principals in the case and officials, most of them reflecting extreme racial antagonism.

Having the county auxiliaries organized 100 per cent was discussed and plans to purchase two flags were approved at the executive meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Firemen, held Thursday at the Bedford Road fire hall.

A welcome was extended by Mrs. Catherine Purnell, president of the Bedford Road auxiliary, and Mrs. Marjorie Proyer, Clarysville, president. As Western-port has no auxiliary, Mrs. Bessie Wilkes, Barton, was named chairman. The meeting opened with the flag salute and prayer by Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, LaVale. The group sang the conference song, with Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, Baltimore Pike, at the piano. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Laura Shu-hart, Barton, and Mrs. Hilda Phillips, Lonaconing. Mrs. Alma Wilt, District 16, immediate past president and county delegate to the state convention held in Cumberland in June, gave her report. Mrs. Phillips also spoke on the Convention. It was reported that Mrs. Margaret Arnold, Lonaconing, is ill and has returned home from the hospital.

Donations for the state group was solicited by Mrs. Flo Alexander, LaVale, Ways and Means committee. She asked each auxiliary to send in a fancy apron with pennies for each year of the members age, instead of the usual check sent. They are to be given

What is education but a broadening of man's knowledge, enabling him to live a better life? Education is like a doorway leading to the fulfillment of dreams and ambitions. Beyond it lies the vast chamber of the mind, and scientists know that in a lifetime most men develop only a small part of their mental potentialities.

In our search for education today, one type is sometimes slighted . . . religious education. Yet in all the fields of learning what could be more important? Man needs Faith and a knowledge of his Church if he is to reconcile so much that is happening in the world of today with the kind of future he would like to have. In your reading and studies, don't forget religion. There is nothing stuffy about the study of it, nothing dull. It is as significant as yesterday . . . as full of promise as all tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The appointment was made recently by the bishop. He will be succeeded here by Rev. John P. Hannan, who has been assistant pastor of St. Paul's church, Richmond, Va.

Father Stragisher, who has been spoken of and to by his parishioners as "Father Henry," left early Thursday morning for Virginia to take over his new duties.

At the farewell to Father Stragisher, 80 children of the local parish school were present and others came and remained a short time and departed because of lack of space, after greeting him. An interesting program was presented in which the young school students participated by singing favored numbers.

The Tri-State area was represented by a number of clergy of Cumberland, Oakland and other places. The priests held a meeting and extended greetings to Father Rizer, following the main reception, where sandwiches and coffee were served to all.

Members of the Holy Name Society and other groups were well represented at the reception, including the Newman Club at Potomac State College.

Father Rizer delivered a short talk in which he said: "It is with regret and disappointment that we say good-bye to Father Henry. He has done a wonderful job during his ten years here, especially with the Holy Name Society and the Newman Club. Everyone will feel his loss very distinctly, but it is true that he is receiving a promotion. I want him to know, however, that he can keep the key to the house and will always be welcome, as we hope he will visit us many times in years to come."

Father Rizer made a presentation of a purse to Father Henry as part of the farewell greetings from the parish.

Father Henry said there were too many things in his memory of Keyser and its parish for him to try to speak of them in a limited time. "There are too many happy and thoughtful occasions to dwell on them, but I do want to say that we tend to take too much for granted and not enough in gratitude. Tonight I wish to express my gratitude, first to Father Rizer. During my 10 years here we have shared a good and eloquent friendship, full of kindness, understanding and consideration; to the good sisters for their prayers and wonderful program this evening; to Aunt Day (Wilkinson), the housekeeper, for always seeing that I was in 'top shape'; to the Holy Name Society, Dr. E. E. Church, the faculty at Potomac State College, and the Newman Club, and finally to all the dear people, my friends, not only Catholic, but non-Catholic, as well, who have been a constant encouragement to me."

The program was closed with the singing of "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

The Catholic Woman's Club sponsored the farewell party.

Juvenile Court Breaks Up 'Summer Romance'

The summer romance of a young Montgomery County couple, arrested September 7 in Grantsville as runaways, ended by legal decree in Montgomery County Juvenile Court Thursday.

The 17-year-old youth involved was found guilty on two counts of delinquency by Juvenile Court Judge Alfred D. Noyes, who stipulated he was not under any circumstances to see the 13-year-old girl again.

The delinquency charges against the youth were assault on the young girl's mother when the young couple fled her home armed with two guns, and also of being a runaway "not under the control of his parents." Sentencing was deferred until Monday by Judge Noyes.

The girl, described as an attractive blonde, did not contest a runaway charge, and is also awaiting sentence. Court attaches said she broke into tears when Judge Noyes said she and the boy were never to see each other again.

The couple was released into the custody of their respective parents until Monday. The boy had been at the Maryland Training School for Boys, and the girl at the State Training School for Girls since their arrest.

The couple was arrested by Tfc. Blair J. Buckel of the Maryland State Police after he had been tipped off by a Grantsville garage operator that a car similar to one described in a police alert had been repaired at his garage.

When arrested, the pair had a .30 calibre rifle in their possession, having previously pawned a 12-gauge shotgun to pay he repair bill at the garage. The youth allegedly told Trooper Buckel they were on their way to Wisconsin to visit his grandparents.

Flight Attempt Results In Jail Sentence

A 26-year-old former resident was sentenced to 55 days in the county jail in default of fines assessed yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on motor vehicle charges resulting from his attempt to escape the custody of State Police.

The man, Harold Russell Shives, who formerly resided on William's Street, pleaded guilty to operating in excess of a 50-mile speed limit and to passing on a curve on the crest of a hill.

The charges were preferred by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, who arrested Shives at a roadblock on Bedford Road following a chase during which the speed of the cars attained 70 miles per hour.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick fined Shives $50 and 75 cents costs on the speeding charge, and $25 and 75 cents costs for passing on the curve. He imposed a jail sentence of 30 days on the first charge, and 25 days on the latter, in default of fines. The sentences are to run concurrently, Magistrate Dick specified.

A third charge, operating without a license, was placed against Shives yesterday afternoon. He pleaded guilty but said he did not know when he left home that he had lost it.

Magistrate Dick suspended the $10.75 in fines and costs. After his sentence is completed, Shives will be turned over to Washington County authorities, Sgt. Baker explaining that the sheriff's office there holds five warrants charging Shives with passing bad checks.

Old Russian Theme Is Played Again

Suggestion by Russian Defense Minister G. K. Zhukov—that the United States close its overseas military installations fringing the Soviet Union, Red China, and other countries—is a return to an old Russian theme.

His argument is that Russia is returning the Porkkala naval base to Finland and he adds that the Soviet will liquidate its bases "in general." So America should do likewise in areas where its bases stand prepared to challenge any Red aggression.

As with many similar Russian proposals, this suggestion is weighted heavily in favor of the East. Closing of the U. S. bases which cause Moscow no little discomfort would leave a wide area open for a sudden Russian thrust. Russia would still be just behind the iron curtain, from which it could attack the nations which the United States installations are designed to protect. This country would be in no position to retaliate quickly.

It adds up to another plan which would move American military might farther from the points where it could block the Russian path if the Soviet ever attempted to invade the West.

The United States has proposed an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection of each other's territory. At the moment there are hopes that Russia may eventually agree to the plan. Meanwhile, however, Zhukov can hardly expect the free world to leave the regions edging the iron curtain unguarded.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

An Action Fund

There are several kinds of tax-free money but there is no category which permits political activity. The issue then is: What is a political activity?

The Fund for the Republic, established by the Ford Foundation which is fed by the profits of the Ford Motor Company, defines its own function as follows:

"The Fund for the Republic was established to deal with problems that exist today. It expects to spend its principal as fast as this can be judiciously done. It is not engaged in the support of long-term research. It is not interested in scholarship as such. Nor is it concerned with general education. Its efforts are focused on the immediate issues of civil liberties. When it engages in research, or sponsors it, the Fund is seeking to obtain answers to questions that are pressing now."

In a word, it is not a scholarly or research organization; it is not engaged in education or charity. It exists to deal with problems of the day.

Further in the report, The Fund specifies the problems of the day which concern it:

"... A political party in this country has been identified with the 'enemy.' Those associated with this party have therefore come under suspicion as an imminent danger to the state. In view of the weapons now available and of the examples of subversion that other countries have offered, the danger has seemed great, though often mysterious and intangible. It has appeared that the peril to the country could be dealt with only by methods that drastically departed from those which have characterized Anglo-American jurisprudence."

What is the name of the "political party that has been identified with the 'enemy'?" Obviously, it is the Communist party, U.S.A. Are we to take it, from this statement, that the Ford Foundation has contributed $15,000,000 to the Fund for the Republic to defend the Communist party?

Apparently Robert Hutchins, who wrote the report from which I quote, surely could not have meant the Republican party or the Democratic party or even the Liberal party, for it is only the Communist party which has been identified with the "enemy." (The quotation marks are Hutchins'.) Further, we might ask: who is this "enemy?" Hutchins also leaves that name out, perhaps from coyness. Well, we know who the enemy is, because this country has been sorely taxed by him. The "enemy" is Soviet Russia and its agent in the United States is the Communist party.

It might, in this connection, be of value to report the findings of the Australian commission on this subject: "Without communism, Soviet espionage could have no hope of success in this country and the existence here of Communists who were and are willing to act to the prejudice of Australia was the fundamental cause of the formation of our Security Service and necessitates its retention in its present role as a 'fourth service' essential to the security and defense of Australia."

So, Robert Hutchins, having stated the problem which faces the Fund for the Republic, proceeds to dodge it: "The Fund for the Republic takes no position on these matters, beyond affirming its faith in the principles upon which our government is founded, as set forth in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution."

Whereupon it sends investigators all over the country to discover what has been done to interfere with the free functioning of Communists in the United States. Some of these investigators have long been rejected by opponents of communism. With one exception, for instance, those who tried to contact me were objectionable to me both as persons and for their prior political activities. One is not required to receive in his home or at his office a person whom he would not ordinarily receive only because that person got a job with the Fund for the Republic.

What this report of the Fund for the Republic indicates to me, as a student of these problems and methods, is that the fund, as an action organization, is attempting to use the $15,000,000 that the Ford Foundation has given it, to take over the work of the congressional committees and to smother all anti-Communist investigations and activities. If that is its intention, it will fail. If that is not its intention, why interfere with the congressional committees?

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, The Boys Are . . .

Britisher Seems To Accept Defeatist Attitude

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The wishful dream that there isn't going to be any war because it would be too awful has once before been proclaimed as the basis for world policy by Harold Macmillan, the British foreign secretary. But now he adds to it the surprising comment that Western diplomacy is entering a phase in which there will be "negotiation from equality" with Soviet Russia instead of "negotiation from strength."

This is but another way of saying that the Western powers are accepting in a defeatist mood the status of things as they are and that the gains made through aggression by the Soviets and the Red Chinese are never going to be challenged. Mr. Macmillan adds: "We must rely on moral power. Material strength, though essential, cannot do it alone."

Boon For Dictatorships

But when it is announced that material strength is not even to be potentially put in the balance and that no spirit of resistance is to be invoked to encourage oppressed peoples to overthrow their rulers, dictatorships are bound to remain indefinitely in power.

Today Argentina has overthrown its dictator. It has the moral influence of the people which gave momentum to the rebel movement, but at the top were men who were ready to risk their lives for freedom. There may be no outward signs of revolt today in Soviet Russia or in the countries behind the iron curtain, but the spirit of resistance is building up just the same. When Secretary Macmillan says the Soviets and the west are negotiating from a position of "equality," he throws away a trump card in the game of moral force. For there is no equality of position as between good men and evil men.

The American secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, in his speech before the United Nations, talked about the future era, too, but he wisely said "it will not be an era of placidity and stagnancy, in the sense that the status quo, with its manifold injustices, is accepted as permanent." President Eisenhower, in his recent speech before the American Bar Association, pointedly said that "we must not think of peace as a static condition in world affairs" and that "unless there is peaceful change, there is bound to be violent change."

Russia Warned By Dulles

Mr. Dulles carried out this theme in his Thursday speech when he warned Soviet Russia that it would be a mistake to assume that "the injustice of a divided Germany can be perpetuated without grave risk."

Violence can break out when the passions of patriotism burn fiercely in the breasts of men who yearn for freedom. Nationalism is a deep-seated urge. The moral force of the world is usually lined up behind peoples who strive to gain their independence or to regain liberties lost.

Sometimes governments yield to expediency and forsake the tenets of moral force when oppressed people most need their encouragement. Thus it is surprising to see the governments of Norway, Sweden and Denmark voting this week to seat Red China in the United Nations.

Not so long ago the soldiers of the Western world helped to liberate Norway and Denmark. Not so long ago also exiled governments of both countries were established in London. They were not in control of their own territories. Their peoples would have been astounded if the United States had been willing to recognize and accept into the councils of free nations the Quislings of the two Scandinavian countries which had been overrun by the enemy.

The votes by India, Burma and Indonesia to seat Red China in the U. N. are understandable be-

Those feminine hurricanes are getting to the spot where they're sure to bring Lulu.

The governor says the administration is building a millionaire's row for 1956, that it has a hard and ugly underworld and its feet don't track.

Truman Is Working Behind Scenes To Sidetrack Stevenson Bandwagon

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders are now grasping at any straw in the wind to bolster their hope that Ike will run.

Two of those straws developed at Denver after Ike made his very discouraging statement that the party should not depend on one man.

First straw came out at a private session with GOP chiefs during which he was briefed by Congressman Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the GOP Congressional Committee, on the outlook of House races for 1956.

Ike was particularly interested in "marginal" contests for House seats in various states, urged Simpson to concentrate on winning as many as possible. This made GOP leaders conclude that the President would not have evidenced such concern, unless he planned to lead the ticket again.

Second straw took the form of a joke told by GOP Chairman Len Hall about a "business man" who was asked by a friend if he thought the President would accept renomination.

"Well, if he doesn't," replied the business man, "I'll jump off that bridge when he gets to it."

Republicans reported that Ike laughed too heartily for a man who was planning to step aside.

These were meagre straws in the wind, it's true, but they encouraged GOP leaders like Len Hall, who says facetiously that he'll commit suicide if Ike doesn't run.

Khrushchev's Wisecracks

Fragments of West German Chancellor Adenauer's secret talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow have now leaked out.

At one point, Communist party boss Khrushchev wisecracked: "You Germans, too, are to blame for the emergence of communism, for Marx and Engels were born in Germany. You have made your bed. Now lie in it."

Adenauer quickly reminded Khrushchev of a West German banker named Pferdemenges whom the Soviet radio has bitterly denounced.

"You probably know the name of Pferdemenges," smiled Adenauer. "He is a relative of Engels."

Trust,' which is subversive religious propaganda issued by the Post Office Department in open defiance of the law."

Harry Nixes Adlai

This will be denied, but ex-President Truman is working behind the scenes to sidetrack the presidential bandwagon of the man he supported for the presidency in 1952, Adlai Stevenson.

Truman's secret strategy is to line up an array of favorite-son candidates to tie up the votes and block Stevenson at the 1956 convention. As the convention develops, the favorite sons will throw their votes to the strongest candidate, whom Truman expects to be New York's Gov. Averell Harriman or Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver.

The former President has assured Democratic trustworthies that there's nothing personal in his anti-Stevenson maneuvering, that he is acting only for the good of the party. He still believes Stevenson would make a fine president. He has the highest respect and admiration for him. But he's more convinced than ever that the defeated 1952 candidate lacks mass appeal.

At this writing, the former President has lined up nearly 10 favorite-son candidates, working sometimes directly, sometimes indirectly, with Democratic leaders in each state. The favorite sons include a host of up-and-coming young governors, such as Pennsylvania's George Leader, New Jersey's Robert Meyner, Michigan's "Soapy" Williams, Connecticut's Abe Ribicoff, Rhode Island's Dennis Roberts, and Maine's Ed Muskie.

In addition, Georgia's Sen. Dick Russell will go to the convention with a bloc of Southern votes, and Speaker Sam Rayburn is quietly picking up delegates of his own. These two seasoned politicians have no personal presidential ambitions, but they hope to control enough votes to influence the outcome.

Are You A Somebody?

By Brother Barnabas

Hardly anybody wants to be a nobody. Nearly everyone wants to be a somebody.

If you think you are a nobody you probably are. If you have an exalted opinion of yourself and think you are some pumpkin, you may be riding for a punctured tire.

Some folks think too highly of themselves, others not highly enough. There is a happy medium. Turn to Romans 12:3 for the answer.

Pride is a natural instinct. All people are proud of something sometime, from childhood up. Huckleberry Finn boasted: "Tom Sawyer licked me once."

Some are proud of their ignorance. A young upstart of intellectual pretensions boasted to Spurgeon that he was an "agnostic."

"That's Greek, isn't it?" inquired the great London divine. "I believe so," agreed the presumptuous youth. "Of which," continued Spurgeon, "the Latin equivalent is ignoramus?"

"If there's anything I am proud of it's my humility," boasts another. An old-time songbook contained the sentiment, "O to be nothing," and we little hypocrites sang it.

'Umbie Family

Uriah Heep was proud of his 'umility. He was the 'umblest person going; his mother was a very 'umble person; they lived in an 'umble abode, and his father's calling was 'umble—that of a sexton. Yet Uriah was a detestable sneak.

One of the perversities of our age is to wait till our somebodies pass out of the picture and then give them posthumous honors. We first starve them, then canonize them.

Robert Browning once received an ovation at Oxford. The great audience cheered him to the echo. Someone said, "I should think this would bore you." "On the contrary," said he, "I have waited for it all my life."

No rational person wants to be a nonentity. Statistically speaking, John Wesley was the 15th of 19 children born to Samuel and Susanna Wesley. And Benjamin Franklin would have been the only child of his parents if 14 others had not preceded him.

These two titans arriving long before Margaret Sangster with her birth-control ideas came along, were far more than statistics.

A teacher, speaking of a certain boy, said: "He's the stupidest boy in school. I can't drive anything into his head. He is awkward, slow, and self-conscious." On his way out the visitor whispered to the boy: "Don't be discouraged; do your best and you may become a great scholar some day." That boy was Adam Clark, who lived to become one of the greatest Bible scholars of all time.

Puffing Up Needed

In these nervous apprehensive days every one needs a bit of puffing up. There's no harm in telling a man he looks like a million, when he may feel like the last rose of summer. Besides, when the government gets through with his million he may feel like a cent.

Self-inflation does not make a somebody out of a nobody. It may make him a "balloonatic." Cole-ridge met a German in Frankfurt who always took off his hat when he spoke of himself. He was "touched."

Every community should have a "Puff" society whose primary aim would be to make soso folks feel that they are somebodies, with newspapers, barbers, preachers, and other salesmen heading the list.

The newspaper is quite a puffer. If you can make the "Press" with your picture, everybody not in the know will think you are a celebrity, even though you may have never been called upon to make a speech or invited to join the Masons.

The barber is a tonsorial salesman. No Michaelangelo ever took more pains than he in snipping and smoothing the remaining locks that fringe the head of a baldpate, meanwhile keeping up a running fire of barbershop confabulation, ending sardonically with the bromide "Wet-or-dry?"

Heeded Advice

Then with evident pride, and to prove that your faith in his competence is not misplaced, he holds a mirror before the customer who nods approval, and he thinks "now my wife will be proud of her husband."

As he leaves the shop he recalls the advice of his pastor last Sunday, that husbands should take gifts now and then, and show attentions to their wives as in their courtship days.

Acting on the suggestion, he bought a big box of candy, a flask of her favorite perfume, a bunch of forget-me-nots, and a recording of "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie."

As he handed her these tokens of his love he said: "How beautiful you look in your new bouffant skirt! You are wife, cook, mother and sweetheart all wrapped in one adorable package!"

With this she broke down in tears, saying: "Mary spilled ink on her new dress, Buddy fell down the cellar steps and the doctor put his foot in a cast and now you come home drunk!"

"Who do you think you are?" inquires

Stock Market Posts New High; Sears Outstanding

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—The stock market lunged ahead today to a new record high.

Some gains were quite marked, and there were many plus signs in the area of 1 to 4 points. There were, however, plenty of small losers in the list.

Sears Roebuck was outstanding with a rise of 6 1/4 at 115 1/4 after directors proposed a three-for-one stock split and voted highly favorable dividends. Chrysler was another favorite up 3 1/4 at 99 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, intensified trading sent three Israeli oil companies shooting upward as oil was struck for the first time in Israel.

At the finish, Israel-American Oil was up 1 1/4 at 3 1/4, Israel-Mediterranean Petroleum up 1 1/2 at 2 1/2, and Pan-Israel Oil up 1 1/4 at 2 1/2.

The Associated Press average of 30 stocks was up $1.10 at $181.50, an historic high mark. The previous high was a week ago today at $180.60.

Baltimore Livestock

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP)—Cattle: 250 head of fresh receipts along with scattered lots held from Thursday being fed and watered for Monday's trade, loads mostly commercial grade sausage hogs 13.35 late Thursday.

Calves 25; odd lots utility to choice offerings 14.00-16.00, mostly 24.00-26.00 for good and choice.

Hogs none. Sheep none.

Volunteer Scout Leaders Will Be Feted At Dinner

A committee to plan the annual fellowship dinner in honor of the volunteer leaders in Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, was named at a council executive board meeting Thursday in Scout Headquarters, County Building, Union Street.

James C. Warden, president, said Henry H. Lowery, Cumberland district chairman, will be chairman. He will be assisted by Mayor Roy W. Eves, Dr. Thomas W. Bess of Keyser and Victor D. Heisey, members of the executive board.

The dinner is the council's expression of appreciation for the hours spent by the Scouters in forwarding the Scouting movement.

William Allee, Cumberland District Commissioner, reported on the Wood Badge training he received during a nine-day period at Camp Schiff, Mendham, N. J., the national Boy Scout reservation. He was accompanied by Leonard Shaffer.

He said he and Shaffer will conduct a similar course for Scouters and leaders of troops in the council's six counties.

Road Closing Is Opposed

A petition containing the signatures of 29 residents of the Mexico Farms area was filed with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners against the closing of a number of roads in that area.

The petition was brought to the meeting of the board yesterday by James Crites, who obtained the signatures of the Mexico Farms group.

Several months ago William C. Walsh, attorney for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, filed notice that the firm wanted the county board to officially open the roads and then formally declare them closed. This procedure is being followed in order to eliminate any "cloud" on the title to the more than 600 acres of land the company is using as the site of a new $34,000,000 glass plant.

It was brought out that none of the five or six roads in question have been used for many years and trees more than 40 years old and six inches in diameter have grown up in the so-called roadways.

Crites said he and the others who signed the petition have no

As may be seen at a glance, North-South had 10 ironclad tricks at notrump, but South, with an eye on his 30 part-score, evidently felt that a rebid of clubs was safer than an excursion into notrump. After that, of course, North either had to raise clubs or pass—he scarcely could venture to three notrump without the vestige of a diamond stopper.

Cavey Pleads Guilty In Second Degree

Former Frostburger Will Receive Sentence Today In Slaying Case

A former Frostburg resident, Leo Cavey, 43, yesterday morning pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the death of Alva J. Williams, 80, ending a week-long trial in Gauga County Circuit Court at Chardon, Ohio.

Prosecuting Attorney James Dinsmore said this plea

Witnesses See Nothing Wrong With SRC Deal

Legislators Study Land Acquisition

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP)—Investigators heard several witnesses testify today that they could see nothing wrong with the State Roads Commission contract for land acquisition for the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel project.

The chief witness, David M. Nichols, denied "emphatically" that he resigned from the roads body in April of 1954 to be in a position to get the contract.

And a critic of the contract, another realtor, who had said publicly he could do the job considerably cheaper, acknowledged to the Legislative Council committee he made the statement in ignorance of the terms of the contract.

The contract to acquire the right-of-way land is held by Nichols' real estate firm and William Martiens & Co. Their fee is 7 1/2 per cent of the purchase price divided between them.

One of the key witnesses critics have counted on in the investigation, Russell T. Baker, testified today.

Price Could Have Been Cut

Baker, a realtor, has stated publicly that his firm and another, Lamb and Baker, could have done the job for 5 per cent, 2 1/2 per cent cheaper than Nichols and Martiens are being paid.

Today, Baker acknowledged he had not seen the contract at the time that statement was made and did not know that two independent appraisals by two firms were required for each property.

Baker said his firm would have bid if the acquisition contract had been opened to bidding, a process he thought should have been followed.

Russell T. Baker has no connection with the Lamb and Baker firm.

Chairman Russell McCain of the SRC also testified today about the controversial contract which has figured in political debates since last winter.

McCain presented the investigating committee with figures to show that the costs of land acquisition to the state from 1948 until last June 30 has averaged about 9 per cent.

McCain said this figure included costs of maintaining the right-of-way department of the SRC plus what fees were paid to outside experts.

Narrowed Of Decision

McCain and Bramwell Kelly, another member of the SRC, both testified that Nichols knew nothing of the decision to use private real estate firms for the harbor tunnel land acquisition prior to the time he left the commission.

McCain said the decision to use outside realtors for land acquisition was made because of the magnitude of the project, because of the specialized type of commercial property in question and because the commission was not staffed to handle the job.

McCain said the J. E. Greiner Co., consulting engineers for the tunnel project, suggested the Martiens and Nichols firms and worked out the 7 1/2 per cent fee.

Del. Boone (D-Balto) and Sen. Phoebeus (R-Somerset) indulged in a slight political duel after the former remarked that the Greiner Co. seemed to have considerable influence over the State Roads Commission which appeared to "extend even into the executive mansion at Annapolis."

Phoebeus pointed out that the engineering firm had also done work for Maryland under the Democratic administrations of former Govs. O'Connor and Lane.

Nichols testified that "innuendoes and inferences" about his role in the contract had been "very detrimental" to his business and were "upsetting" to his family.

Steam Causes Freak Blaze

Firemen from Central station yesterday morning were called to Nobil's Shoe Store, 135 Baltimore Street, when steam escaped from a cracked pipe over the display windows, condensed and caused a short circuit.

Firemen said the second floor was hot and the smell of pitch could be detected. A small hole was cut in the floor to make a check for a blaze. A section of plywood over the entrance of the door was also removed.

The huge neon sign in front of the store was reported to have been flickering. Potomac Edison was notified and the steam in the front part of the store was cut off in order that the pipe could be replaced.

The store management said damage was largely confined to stock.

Insurance Men Will Hold State Meeting Here

300 Expected At October 16-18 Event

Plans are being completed for the 19th annual convention of the Maryland Association of Insurance Agents which will be held here October 16 through 18.

The Allegany-Garrett Association of Insurance Agents will be host for the convention, one of the many state-wide meetings being held here during the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial year.

Robert E. Barnard, general chairman, said the convention, the first to be held here by the association since 1939, will be attended by some 300 members of the association.

Plan State Session

Headquarters for the three-day meeting will be at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Association social events, which include the annual banquet, will be held at the Shrine Country Club. Women's activities will be held at the Cumberland Country Club.

The area convention committee includes Thomas F. Conlon Jr., chairman for reservations and registration; James B. Reinhart, chairman for speakers, business and educational events; John E. Geare, chairman, entertainment committee; D. Clifford Goodfellow, chairman, pre-convention publicity; and Miss Noama M. Flanagan, Westernport, chairman of the committee planning special arrangements for women's activities.

The association includes virtually all fire and casualty insurance agents in Maryland.

Will Hold Banquet

Among the speakers will be Joseph E. Leopold, lawyer and industrial relation specialist, who will speak on "The income tax disparity between stock and mutual companies," and Albert L. Latham, who will discuss "General liability."

The program will include the annual business meeting, the election of officers, educational sessions, a golf tournament, tour of an area industrial plant, parties for agents and their wives, and a banquet and dance.

Advisory Board Makes Plans For Election

The Salvation Army Advisory Board yesterday appointed a nominating committee and asked it to report at the October 28 meeting on a suggested slate of 1956 officers and prospective members.

Adolf Blunk was named chairman of the committee which includes Glenn Morris and William G. Rice. Members of the Executive Board, Daniel Y. Browne, president; John Ankeny, treasurer; and Carl Amtower, secretary, are ex-officio members of the committee.

Retiring members of the board are Browne, F. Finley Thompson, Anthony Saell and Woodward D. Pealer.

Rice, who represents the Salvation Army on the Cumberland Community Chest, reported on meetings which resulted in the Army's rejoining the Chest.

Browne urged all members of the board to pitch in and support the Red Feather drive.

He said all members expressed gratification that the Army has rejoined the united effort.

Pealer and Robert W. Young were named to work with Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel, on plans for the Army's Christmas program.

The Christmas Cheer program, officials said, will follow the same pattern as in previous years.

The board decided to hold all regular meetings on the fourth Fridays of the month at noon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

To Hold Supper

The Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company will sponsor a roast beef supper from 5 until 7 tonight at the fire hall.

Carver Graduate Earns Promotion In Air Force

Walter H. Younger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younger, 1014 Rolling Mill Alley, has been promoted to airman second class, after completing a special course in radar electronics.

On September 2, after completing 30 days leave here, he was assigned to active duty at Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

Airman Younger enlisted at the Cumberland Air Force Recruiting Station in April 1954, after he had graduated in 1953 at Carver High School. In high school here he was among the honor students scholastically, and also starred on the school's athletic teams.

While taking his basic training at Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y., he participated in some athletics and when he was assigned to Lowery Air Force Base, Denver, Colo., he participated in Air Force athletics, playing basketball, baseball and softball.

He attended school there for 40 weeks and attained a high rating in the course.

Complete Basic Training

These three Cumberland airmen, all of whom enlisted in the Air Force in June, have completed basic training at Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y. They are (left to right) Edwin Aronhalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Aronhalt, 17 Pennsylvania Avenue; Arthol Dexter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dexter, 204 Columbia Street; and Frank Stallings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stallings, 231 Aviret Avenue.

Rev. Hammersla Appointed To Lauraville

Rev. H. G. Hager Named To Central

Rev. Edgar Ward Hammersla, pastor of Central Methodist Church, has been appointed to the pastorate of Lauraville Methodist Church, East Baltimore, effective October 9.

The appointment has been announced by Rev. Harry C. Marsh, Hagerstown, district superintendent, and was made to fill a vacancy in the Lauraville Church.

Rev. Hammersla will be succeeded here by Rev. H. G. Hager of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., where he is pastor of the Campbell-Bolivar Charge. Rev. Hager is 52, married and has one daughter.

The appointment to the East Baltimore church is considered a promotion for Rev. Hammersla, local clergyman noted.

The popular young minister came here in 1952 after his graduation from Duke University, and filled the pulpit vacated by Rev. Crates S. Johnson, who retired. This was his first charge.

He and his wife have been residing at 742 Fayette Street. Their one son, Jeffrey Ward Hammersla, 2, was born here. Rev. Hammersla is a native of Martinsburg, W. Va. He said last night that his farewell sermon will be delivered to his congregation on October 2, the last Sunday he is to fill the local pulpit.

Area Firemen Have Posts In State Group

A number of members of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association are now serving in various offices and committees of the Maryland State Firemen's Association which held its annual convention here this summer.

Treasurer of the state association is William A. Wilson of Midland, while John S. Prichard of Grantsville is 1958 chairman of the board of trustees.

Those members on other committees include: David E. Kirk of Barton, executive committee; Homer Ambrose of McCoole, 1958 member of the fire prevention bureau; Delbert Valentine, District 16, and Henry L. Durst, Grantsville, firemen's training booster committee.

Alvin Rankin, Frostburg, and Charles Pattison, Blooming, legislative committee; Joseph C. Stuckey, chairman, Corrigansville, Harry M. Dehaven, Baltimore Pike; Cromwell C. Zembower, LaVale, John Francis Fatkins, Clarysville and George F. Comp Jr., topics and statistical committee.

John Eichorn, Lonaconing, transportation committee.

Coal Pile Ignites In Area Church

Volunteer workers are busy at St. George's Episcopal Church in Mt. Savage, removing a 35-ton pile of coal which caught fire yesterday.

Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector, said the blaze was discovered yesterday at 5 p. m. by Walter Blank, sexton of the church.

The fire broke out in the center of the big pile of coal and had worked its way to the side, charring the wood of the coal bin when it was discovered.

Father Schwind said volunteer workers began removing the coal and later summoned the Mt. Savage Fire Company, which dispatched two pumps to the blaze. Firemen last night were pumping a continuous stream of water on the smoldering coal as workers toiled in the steam-filled basement of the church.

All of the coal is expected to be removed by today. The blaze will not interfere with regular Sunday services Father Schwind said.

Hyde Lists Academy Testing Dates

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde (R. Md.) has announced that the nationwide competitive examination for the U. S. Coast Guard Academy will be held February 27 and 28, 1956.

The deadline for submitting applications is January 15. For further information on career opportunities in this service, young high school graduates should write U. S. Coast Guard, Washington 25, D. C.

Maplehurst Country Club Course Nears Completion

Except for a few minor details and some extensive work on the clubhouse, the Maplehurst Country Club golf course near Frostburg has been completed, officials of the organization said yesterday.

The final seeding of the nine-hole layout was completed September 17. Robert Pritchard, president, said it is hoped the course will be open for members to use by the early part of next May. A large practice green and practice tee are also provided.

The nine-hole golf course measures 3,300 yards from the front of the tees, and approximately 3,500 yards from the back of the tees. The tees measure 30 by 60 feet to 45 by 100 feet and the greens are 6,500 to 9,500 square feet.

Two large ponds supply the water system for the course, one containing 2,250,000 gallons of water and the other 250,000 gallons. Volunteering members of the club, under the direction and supervision of R. E. Good, chairman of the grounds committee, placed more than two miles of pipe line in the ground to water the course. The system will feature the latest methods of watering with pop-up sprinklers and valves which are located at the approach to every green and in the centers of all greens and tees.

Some 2,500 trees will be planted on the grounds this fall and the clubhouse site, a large barn located to the rear of the No. 1 tee, overlooks 80 per cent of the course and practice green as well as Frostburg and Big Savage Mountain.

The clubhouse renovation will be done by J. Carter Shryock, chairman of the building committee, and the work is expected to be completed by the end of this year. A large parking lot will accommodate members and picnic and playground areas will be provided.

Future plans call for the golf course to be enlarged to 18 holes with addition of a swimming pool and tennis courts.

There are 260 members in the club at present and the organization hopes to bring the membership up to 350.

The course plans were drawn up by James G. Harrison and the Penhurst Development Company constructed the layout. The work began last May and was completed this week.

Charles Pinto is secretary of the organization and chairman of the membership drive.

Mishap Victim Burial Slated For Monday

A funeral service for Floyd T. Berkey, 27, of Bowman's Addition, a local construction worker who died yesterday morning after a payloador-tractor turned over on him on Route 88 one mile north of Charlevoix, Pa., will be conducted on Monday at 1 p. m. at the home of his father, Wilson C. Berkey, Bowman's Addition.

Rev. H. E. Heckert, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, will officiate and interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery. The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home where it will remain until today at 2 p. m., when it will be taken to the residence.

The victim was an equipment operator for the Baughman Construction Company, LaVale.

State Police at Belle Vernon said Berkey was operating the payloador south from Monongahela towards Charlevoix, and was pulling a welding machine mounted on wheels.

The officers reported the left rear wheel of the tractor fell off, and the tractor went into a spin, finally falling on Berkey.

The accident occurred at 7:15 a. m. on Craven Hill and Berkey was admitted to the Charlevoix-Monessen Hospital at 7:25 a. m.

He died at 9:40 a. m. without regaining consciousness. Hospital authorities said he suffered a fractured pelvis, fractured chest and right shoulder, a possible fractured skull, internal injuries and shock.

Berkey was working on a gas line project being handled in that section by the Baughman company. George Baughman, president of the company, said Berkey had worked for his firm for about five years as an operator.

His employment was interrupted by a tour of duty with the Army during which time he saw service in the Korean War.

Surviving besides his father, are his stepmother, Mrs. Sylvan Hook Berkey; his wife, June (Shanholz) Berkey; a daughter, Tonya, at home; three brothers, Glenn and Joseph Berkey, both of Schellsburg, Pa., and Bruce Berkey, Indianapolis, Ind.

Jail Sentences Given Two On Parole Counts

Violations of paroles brought jail sentences to an area man and boy in Juvenile Court yesterday.

Sentenced to one year in the Maryland House of Correction was Robert Howard Warnick, 28, of the Barton area, in a parole violation involving drunk and disorderly conduct.

He had been paroled in Juvenile Court here April 5 for contributing to the delinquency of two male minors.

The sentence was imposed by Magistrate Morris Baron, who, in another case, sentenced a 16-year-old boy from the Rawlings area to an indefinite term in the Maryland Training School for running away from home in violation of his parole.

Attaches said the lad had run away several times and was brought back this week from Dallas, Texas, where he was picked up and held by juvenile authorities after he hitch hiked and "rode the rails" to the Lone Star State.

Good Christmas Season Slated In This Area

Chamber Commerce Cites Good Outlook

Cumberland area business leaders are predicting that this Western Maryland industrial center will have a good Christmas and that it will be followed by a prosperous New Year.

They are convinced that prosperity is "on the march" as the Queen City celebrates its Bicentennial and that the better life for residents of this area will continue because it has a sound foundation.

Anthony Saell, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said all signs point to a great Christmas shopping season. More people are earning more money, he said, and are spending it because they are confident of the future of the city.

Cites Optimism The Chamber, he said, bases its optimism on the fact that citizens are adopting a more optimistic outlook on the future of Cumberland and this area.

This new faith in the area, he said, is based on solid foundations and is not a "pie in the sky" attitude.

Records kept by the Chamber of Commerce point to a continuous rise in employment and payrolls in major industries of this area.

Payrolls of this area's 17 major industries, Saell said, totaled $25,879,674 for the first eight months of this year.

This is a 15.3 per cent increase over the $22,519,499 payroll for the first eight months of 1954.

Employment Is Up

Employment in the industries was at the 9,670 mark for the first eight months of this year, an increase of 11.9 per cent over the 8,654 working force in 1954.

Saell said these figures are only for the 17 industries which the Chamber uses as a barometer of business activity, and do not include payrolls and employment in smaller industries.

The figures also do not reflect the payrolls and workers employed in the area's construction industry, which this year is facing the biggest job in its history.

One indication of the boost in building are records kept of building permits issued by the City of Cumberland.

During the first eight months of the year, building permits totaled $1,109,191, an increase of 224 per cent over 1954's $461,425 construction for the same period.

The figures do not reflect one city project—the $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant the city is building in South Cumberland. Nor do they reflect the $34,000,000 glass plant being built by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at North Branch.

An extensive building program is also under way in Allegany County, outside of Cumberland, following the national trend of the growth of the suburbs.

Saell said the growth in industrial payrolls and employment are not spectacular but are steady and represent stable growth.

The Chamber said Christmas buying in this area will be spurred by the from $500,000 to $600,000 in Christmas Savings accounts which banks will begin to distribute about Thanksgiving time.

He said merchants report that people are "in a buying mood" and that there is no indication they will get out of the mood from now until Christmas.

A great many of the purchases, he said, are for the many products available which provide a better life for people.

More important than mere facts and figures, he said, is that people feel that the future of Cumberland is on the upgrade.

Cumberland's newly found prosperity was indicated also in a recent copyrighted survey of buying power by Sales Management magazine.

The survey indicated families here are "earning more and spending more" than those in most sections of the country, with retail stores in Cumberland chalking up a sales volume of $54,275,000 during the past year.

This, it was pointed out, was more than should have been expected for a city of this size. Retail activity should have been .0236 of the national average, but was actually .0319 per cent.

This large scale buying, the magazine said, meant more luxurious living here, made possible by better earnings.

The data compiled by the magazine showed that the 11,700 families in Cumberland had a net income, after personal taxes, of $51,166,000, a gain over 1953's $48,488,000. Cumberland families, the study showed, had an average net income of $4,373.

The fact that sales exceeded local income indicates the extent that Cumberland is a "rising center" for the Tri-State area.

Another indication of business activity is bank debits, which reflect the volume of business transacted.

Debits in local banks totaled $30,090,000 in June, compared to last June's $26,781,000, and for the first six months of the year $150,807,000, compared to 1954's $137,780,000.
